Film festival : the need of today's era

In today's era especially after pandemic there are many social issues that are causing emotional imbalance, anxiety, depression and phobia among the youth. To name few: murder of father by his child, struggle between sibling leading to murder for the sake of property issue or money matter, children's negligence by their parents, domestic violence etc. are causing imbalance in the society.

The parent child relationship is important to nurture the physical, emotional and social development of the child. It is a unique bond that every child and parent can enjoy and it is essential for the healthy development of the child. This relationship lays the foundation for the child's personality and life choices. Movies are the powerful media to motivate the youth.
